Happy old age

Many women who have enjoyed good health all their life begin to fade when they reach the age of forty-four. They grow nervous and irritable and suffer with sickheadaches. Their livers are torpid, their digestion is impaired and their bowels are irregular. They are experiencing the "change of life." And it is not strange that the cessation of the menstrual habit after thirty years operation should disturb the system and tax the strongest constitution. This trying period has no terror for a woman who uses Wine of Cardui. It builds up her strength and prepares her for the ordeal. When the change of life is not safely passed, a woman quickly becomes an invalid. Slumbering disease germs are given increased activity and they appear in aggravated form. If you take Wine of Cardui regularly when approaching the change of life you will be assured better health than you have ever enjoyed before. A happy old age and restful calm will be your reward. Mrs. Campbell was cured after suffering three years with "change of life." Thedford's Black-Draught, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui, assimilates with it perfectly, curing digestive liver and kidney affections, and throwing impurities and disease germs out of the system. Both working together make a well and happy woman.

Many women who have enjoyed good health all their life begin to fade when they reach the age of forty-four. They grow nervous and irritable and suffer with sick-headaches. Their livers are torpid, their digestion is impaired and their bowels are irregular. They are experiencing the "change of life." And it is not strange that the cessation of the menstrual habit after thirty years operation should disturb the system and tax the strongest constitution. This trying period has no terror for a woman who uses Wine of Cardui. It builds up her strength and prepares her for the ordeal. When the change of life is not safely passed, a woman quickly becomes an invalid. Slumbering disease germs are given increased activity and they appear in aggravated form. If you take Wine of Cardui regularly when approaching the change of life you will be assured better health than you have ever enjoyed before. A happy old age and restful calm will be your reward. Mrs. Campbell was cured after suffering three years with "change of life." Thedford's Black-Draught, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui, assimilates with it perfectly, curing digestive liver and kidney affections,

Dun's Review Notes Big Business In Staples and Manufactured Goods.

New York, Jan. 26.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Rarely has there been more business in staples and in manufactured goods at practicany unchanged prices than during the period since Nov. 1. This week seems to have marked the climax of enormous dealings at ngures which have become ramiliar. The heavy trade in pig iron at better prices, the larger distribution of dry goods at a nrmer range of quotations and the rush to secure prompt delivery of boots and shoes, an indicate that business may have escaped one of those weary readjustments of prices which have proved often so trying in recent years. Jobbing trade in the interior is good, and collections continue excellent. Bank clearings at New York gain 52.1 per cent over 1900 and 1.3 per cent over 1899 for the week, while at leading cities outside New York there is a gain of 9.9 per cent over 1900 and 3.4 per cent over 1899. Railroad earnings thus far reported for January show a gain of 11.4 per cent over last year and 24.6 per cent over 1899.

After a week of quiet conditions, partly due to uncertainty regarding competition among leading interests, the iron and steel industry has taken another long stride forward. The feature was enormous buying of pig iron at an advance to $13.25 at Pittsburg. This sudden activity in the raw material removed fear that stocks might be accumulating at furnaces and gave some idea of the heavy contracts for finished products taken by the mills. In some directions there is less foreign inquiry, although an unusually heavy slipment of billets went to Glasgow and exports of rails have not ceased. Freight rates to the seacoast are still considered excessive by manufacturers, and there is more inclination to push domestic business on this account.

Arbitration is expected to prevent suspension of work at the furnaces, Wednesday afternoon, was given a Feb. 1. Pooling of coke interests outside the Connellsville region is being discussed, but the quality has always been inferior and sales only in the Canton workhouse. Delaney chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin Dr. effected at concessions.

It is difficult to find encouraging features in the wool situation. Sales for the week at the chief eastern than in the preceeding week, and in four weeks the aggregate is only 13. 275,700 pounds, against 21,504,700 last year. Not only is there an utter absence of speculative operations, but seriously ill in this city and who has purchases by manufacturers are restricted to requirements for orders on hand. Domestic quotations have not hardened in sympathy with the better prices obtained at London, while a few sales are reported at moderate concessions. Hopes for the future are based on indifference of It Has Been Secured for the Annual dealers and growers to sell at current prices, but present heavy stocks will be augmented in a few months by the new clip. Dullness in the woolen goods is the difficulty, and there is little encouragement for the raw material.

Despite the advonce in prices over those prevailing a year ago, ex-Atlantic ports for the week were 2,568,818 bushels, against 1.644,149 last year, and of corn 3.472.614 bushels, against 3.097,607 in 1900. Western receipts of corn were heavy, amount ing to 4.315.450 bushels, against 2,911,035 last year, but there is complant of poor quality.

Failures for the week were 506 in the United States, against 231 last year, and 46 in Canada, against 38 last year.

Dun's Review Notes Big Business In Staples and Manufactured Goods.

New York, Jan. 26.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Rarely has there been more business in staples and in manufactured goods at practicany unchanged prices than during the period since Nov. 1. This week seems to have marked the climax of enormous dealings at hgures which have become ramiliar. The heavy trade in pig iron at better prices, the larger distribution of dry goods at a namer range of quotations and the rush to secure prompt delivery of boots and shoes, an indicate that business may have escaped one of those weary readjustments of prices which have proved often so trying in recent years. Jobbing trade in the interior is good, and collections continue excellent. Bank clearings at New York gain 52.1 per cent over 1900 and 1.3 per cent over 1899 for the week, while at leading cities outside New York there is a gain of 9.9 per cent over 1900 and 3.4 per cent over 1899. Railroad earnings thus far reported for January show a gain of 11.4 per cent over last year and 24.6 per cent over 1899. After a week of quiet conditions, partly due to uncertainty regarding competition among leading interests, the iron and steel industry has taken another long stride forward. The feature was enormous buying of pig iron at an advance to $13.25 at Pittsburg. This sudden activity in the raw material removed fear that stocks might be accumulating at furnaces and gave some idea of the heavy contracts for finished products taken by the mills. In some directions there is less foreign inquiry, although an unusually heavy slipment of billets went to Glasgow and exports of rails have coast are still considered excessive by manufacturers, and there is more inclination to push domestic business on this account.

Arbitration is expected to prevent suspension of work at the furnaces, where a strike was threatened on Feb. 1. Pooling of coke interests outside the Connellsville region is always been inferior and sales only effected at concessions.

It is difficult to find encouraging features in the wool situation. Sales than in the preceeding week, and in four weeks the aggregate is only 13,-275,700 pounds, against 21,504,700 last year. Not only is there an utter purchases by manufacturers are restricted to requirements for orders on hand. Domestic quotations have not hardened in sympathy with the better prices obtained at London. while a few sales are reported at moderate concessions. Hopes for the future are based on indifference of it Has Been Secured for the Annual dealers and growers to sell at current prices, but present heavy stocks will be augmented in a few months by the new clip. Dullness in the woolen goods is the difficulty, and while the manufacture is depressed there is little encouragement for the raw material.

Despite the advonce in prices over those prevailing a year ago, exports of wheat, including flour, from Atlantic ports for the week were 2,568,818 bushels, against 1.644.149 last year, and of corn 3.472.614 bushels, against 3.097,607 in 1900. Western to 4.315.450 bushels, against 2,911.035 last year, but there is complant of poor quality.

Failures for the week were 506 in the United States, against 231 last year, and 46 in Canada, against 38 last year.

TRAVERSED CONSIDERABLE RANGE

Some Prices Went Up on the Stock Exchange Friday.

New York, Jan. 26.-Prices travers ed a considerable range Friday from the low level to the top level, cover ing one point for a large number of stocks and ranging from 2 to about and most active in the list. number of stocks which at any time got a point away from Thursday night's level in either direction was small, however. The early decline it prices was assisted by London's dis position to sell American stocks, which had established declines ranging up to nearly a point in some or the American stocks before the open ing here. The New York market opened depressed and weakness was rather acute in some cases, notably in St. Paul and Brooklyn Transit These stocks later in the day led the advance so that their extreme range was wide, St. Paul rising 354 fron. the lowest, and closing at the top, while Brooklyn Transit advanced at extreme 2%. The most notable movement of the day was that of the nat southwesterns, which followed & show of firmness for several days past in Kansas and Texas preferred There was also very heavy absorp tion of the bonds of the St. Louis Southwestern company and the Mis souri, Kansas and Texas company Friday morning before the rise in the stocks was inaugurated. WAIT FOR THE STORY.

We will tell you an interesting story, in the near future, of an outrage perpetrated against the News Review office some time since, when the writer was on duty at Manila, and when the cowards who put the following street improvement bonds of said city: when the cowards who put up the job thought that a Spanish bullet might possibly put an end to the old man, as they saw fit to term him in their elegant vocabulary of language. This outrage mer. coned cost this ofcame near resulting disastrously to the owner and proprietor from a financial standpoint. The full knowledge of the dirty deal, the modus operandi thereof, and the identity of the individuals engaged therein only came to us a few days since, the evidence being given us by a member of a committee who is fully conversant 1903. with all the details and who entered protest against the nasty work attempted in the year 1898. Had we known all the particulars when we first landed on this side of the water, and shook hands with East Liverpool friends and well wishers, certain individuals would have been bounced through the front door with a jar and a jump and a bounce which would have shocked, to the extreme, their cowardly carcasses.

A Chinese Curiosity.

"A Chinaman in San Francisco," says a gossiper in the Philadelphia Record, "showed me once an ivory ball as big as your two fists, with six smaller balls inside it. It was the most wonderful thing I ever saw. The Chinaman said that the balls had been begun by his grandfather and that he was the third generation to work on them. He told

"It begins with a solid block of ivory, which is turned into a ball and then carved in a latticed pattern with tiny saw toothed knives. The ancient wore a single pouch at his belt. The modern has-how many pockets in an ordinary costume for outdoors? Let us count them: In the the jacket five, in the overcost five, making 20 in all, a full score of little pokes or bags, and arranged so conveniently that they are scarce noticed.

Truly this is an evolution! How long may it be before we have pockets in ries his pipe, the American soldier his toothbrush and internally the pettifogger his legal papers, the papers that his predecessors in England thrust into the typical "green bag?" How long before there may be pockets in our gloves-for there are, I believe, patents

AN OUTRAGE.

Read the article on our first page of today's issue respecting the attack made upon the News Review by men in this city who claim to be union pressmen. In the light of the facts balls for hundreds of years-grandfathe assertion that the actions of the on them when they had nothing else to fellows designated are simply infamous? We purpose making them dance a merry tune under the music of an outraged law.

THE SATURDAY REVIEW.

There is no nicer appearing weekly paper in this section than the Saturday Review. It is printed on good material, from the most readable type; the sheet comes clean, from the hands of a competent union pressman, and the selections and general reading matter cover all the topics of the day, local, county, state and national. Advertisers will make note, as the weekly is a good advertising medium. Only $1 per year.

ILLUMINATIONS.

This city will be well lighted. The finest electrical apparatus in the land will do the work. . Mr. Healy is authority for the statement that no pains or expense will be spared in the consummation of this much-to-be-desired end. The gentleman appreciates the fact that a perfect lighting system is a source of much gratification to the public at large, and to consumers in general, and he has been doing everything within his power to compass body. They will be regarded first of all this point for our people. He was as as textile foundations for innumerable sured that the system now in vogue pockets.-Tudor Jenks in Woman's would fill the bill in every particular, and he bore patiently with the manufacturers thereof, determined to give them a just and fair show; but forbearance finally ceased to be a virtue. and he will have the present system replaced with one which is pronounced unsurpassed by any electrical lighting aparatus in the land. This will be good news to our people, if true, and we have the assurance that it is the plain and unvarnished truth.

WAIT FOR THE STORY.

We will tell you an interesting story, in the near future, of an outrage perpetrated against the News Review office some time since, when the writer was on duty at Manila, and when the cowards who put up the job thought that a Spanish bullet might possibly put an end to the old man, as they saw fit to term him in their elegant vocabulary of language. This outrage mer. coned cost this office many hundreds of dollars and March came near resulting disastrously to the owner and proprietor from a financial standpoint. The full knowledge of the dirty deal, the modus operandi thereof, and the identity of the individuals engaged therein only came to us a few days since, the evidence being given us by a member of a committee who is fully conversant with all the details and who entered protest against the nasty work attempted in the year 1898. Had we known all the particulars when we first landed on this side of the water, and shook hands with East Liverpool friends and well wishers, certain individuals would have been bounced through the front door with a jar and a jump and a bounce which would have shocked, to the extreme, their cowardly carcasses.

A Chinese Curiosity.

"A Chinaman in San Francisco," says gossiper in the Philadelphia Record, showed me once an ivory ball as big as your two fists, with six smaller balls inside it. It was the most wonderful thing I ever saw. The Chinaman said that the balls had been begun by his grandfather and that he was the third generation to work on them. He told

"It begins with a solid block of ivory, which is turned into a ball and then carved in a latticed pattern with tiny saw toothed knives. Through the lattice, with other knives that are bent in various shapes, the second ball is carved, but is kept fast to the first one by a thin strip of ivory left at the top and by another left at the bottom. Then the third ball, with still finer knives, is tackled through the first and second ones, and so the work goes on till all the balls are finished, when the strips that hold them firm are cut away, and they all revolve freely, one inside the other.

"This Chinaman said it was a common thing for families to have such portrayed, are we not fully justified in ther. father, son and grandson working do. They are priceless, of course. Some cheap balls are made of vegetable ivory, being carved while the material is soft, like a potato. These, though, are not worth more than a few dollars at the most."

The Evolution of the Pocket.

The ancient wore a single pouch at his belt. The modern bas-bow many pockets in an ordinary costume for outdoors? Let us count them: In the trousers five, in the waistcoat five, in the jacket five, in the overcost five, making 20 in all, a full score of little pokes or bags, and arranged so convenlently that they are scarce noticed.

Truly this is an evolution! How long may it be before we have pockets in our hatbands-where the Irishman carries his pipe, the American soldier his toothbrush and internally the pettifogger his legal papers, the papers that his predecessors in England thrust into the typical "green bag?" How long before there may be pockets in our gloves-for there are. I believe, patents covering this invention-and in our shoes? The cane also, with its screw top, begins to be a useful receptacle.

Two centuries from now, so the man with a long foresight can clearly see. the main idea underlying the wearing of clothes will have entirely changed. The chief purpose of garments will no longer be considered to protect the Home Companion.

Sometimes.

"Do you subscribe to this statement that a woman ought to look up to her husband?" inquired Mr. Meekton's

'Well, Henrietta," he answered cautiously. "I do think that when there is any picture banging or anything like that going on in the house it's a man's duty to assume the position of perilous responsibility at the top of the stepladder."-Washington Star.

WAIT FOR THE STORY.

We will tell you an interesting story, in the near future, of an outrage perpetrated against the News Review office some time since, when the writer was on duty at Manila, and when the cowards who put up the job thought that a Spanish bullet might possibly put an end to the old man, as they saw fit to term him in man, as they saw fit to term him in their elegant vocabulary of language. This outrage mer. moned cost this office many hundreds of dollars and came near resulting disastrously to the owner and proprietor from a financial standpoint. The full knowledge of the dirty deal, the modus $5 00 came near resulting disastrously to edge of the dirty deal, the modus operandi thereof, and the identity of the individuals engaged therein only came to us a few days since, the evidence being given us by a member of a committee who is fully conversant 1903. with all the details and who entered protest against the nasty work attempted in the year 1898. Had we known all the particulars when we first landed on this side of the water, and shook hands with East Liverpool friends and well wishers, certain individuals would have been bounced through the front door with a jar and a jump and a bounce which would have shocked, to the extreme, their cowardly carcasses.

A Chinese Curiosity.

"A Chinaman in San Francisco," says a gossiper in the Philadelphia Record, "showed me once an ivory ball as big as your two fists, with six smaller balls inside it. It was the most wonderful thing I ever saw. The Chinaman said that the balls had been begun by his generation to work on them. He told

"It begins with a solid block of ivory. which is turned into a ball and then carved in a latticed pattern with tiny saw toothed knives. Through the lattice, with other knives that are bent in various shapes, the second ball is carved, but is kept fast to the first one by a thin strip of ivory left at the top and by another left at the bottom. Then tackled through the first and second ones, and so the work goes on till all the balls are finished, when the strips that hold them firm are cut away, and they all revolve freely, one inside the

"This Chinaman said it was a common thing for families to have such do. They are priceless, of course. Some cheap balls are made of vegetable ivory, being carved while the material is soft, like a potato. These, though, are not worth more than a few dollars at the most."

The Evolution of the Pocket.

The ancient wore a single pouch at his belt. The modern has-how many pockets in an ordinary costume for outpokes or bags, and arranged so convenlently that they are scarce noticed.

Truly this is an evolution! How long may it be before we have pockets in our hatbands-where the Irishman carries his pipe, the American soldier his toothbrush and internally the pettifogger his legal papers, the papers that his predecessors in England thrust into the typical "green bag?" How long before there may be pockets in our gloves—for there are, I believe patents gloves-for there are, I believe, patents

"Do you subscribe to this statement that a woman ought to look up to her husband?" inquired Mr. Meekton's

"Well, Henrietta," he answered cautiously. "I do think that when there is any picture banging or anything like that going on in the house it's a man's duty to assume the position of perilous responsibility at the top of the stepladder."-Washington Star.

SUGGESTION FOR

An East Ender Has a Matter Which He Thinks Could Occupy

THEIR ATTENTION

Have to Pay Street Car Fare

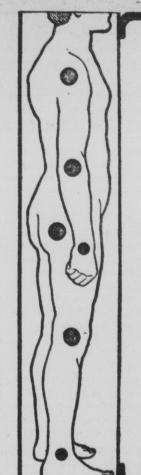

IN ORDER TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Editor News Review-In your report of the proceedings of the recent meeting of the board of education you remark that for the want of business the session, although unusually well attended, was one of the briefest on record. Under the circumstances, perhaps, they will be grateful for suggestions along the line of business. I respectfully offer the following:

In our public schools there are enrolled a number of pupils residing within the corporation and entitled to all the privileges of the city's schools, who are obliged to bear an unequal burden in availing themselves of these privileges-in certain instances doubtless proving an absolute barrier to their doing so. I refer to those residing in the suburban or outlying districts, and who must incur leaving he determined to take his rethe expense of their own transportation. These are chiefly scholars of the higher grades, who must needs attend the Central building. Now why cannot our very efficient, progressive, wide-awake board of education come forward in this case and meet the exigencies of the situation by making some provision for the extra expense the street cars. All will agree that every part of a school district, so far as it is practicable, should be placed on an equal footing. The great aim of our school system is to provide for the education of the masses—to bring it home to the people and to encourage all who are eligible to avail themselves to the utmost of all the privileges and benefits for which it provides. Would it not then be wise stopped at a lunch counter for a soothand in keeping with the genius and ing beverage. spirit of our free school system to make some special provision for the relief of those in the situation to which attention is here called. In the city of McKeesport the other day the board of education voted to pay the toll of school children across a bridge connecting two portions of the citya policy it seems to us is but the logical conclusion of such a situation. and for aught we know is the common practice. Why not apply the same principle in this case and carry the scholars in certain contingencies by street railway free of expense, the object in both cases being simply to remove impediments to scholars availing themselves of school privileges to which they are entitled. By reason of the geographical situation of our city-stretching as it does for miles along the river, the logic of some such a policy is the more apparent and suggests itself as a matter of simple justice to those residents of our city whose homes are far removed from the city's Perian Springs.

Provisions could be made against the abuse of such a policy by a sort of "mileage" system—the concession Council met at 1 o'clock yesterday being made to those residing say not less than a mile from the nearest school in which they are enrolled, the board of course reserving the right to determine the merits of the case in individual instances.

> We submit this question to the righteous judgment and tender mercies of our august educational fathers, and if their ruling be against us we are ready humbly to acknowledge we are

AN EAST ENDER.

Took a Mean Advantage.

A supernumerary in Richard Mansfield's company who had been, to use a Scotch phrase, continuously and continually "heckled" by the manager at rehearsals and between the acts for alleged displays of stupidity on the stage, was informed that a near relative of his had departed this life and had left him a competence, so he decided to leave the dramatic profession and, to quote him, become respectable. Before venge on Mansfield for the attacks on his amour propre that gentleman had

The play was "Richard III," and the super was one of the soldiers who led away the Duke of Buckingham when the king orders his demise.

In due time Richard remarked, "Off with his head!" and this was the super's opportunity. Advancing, he touched his belmet in the style of a footman and replied loudly and genial-

"That'll be attended to, old chap. We'll take care of old Buck. It'll be all right!" and retired gracefully. When the infuriated Mansfield came off to commit murder, he found the super had fled.-Chicago Chronicle.

A Bit of Red Tape.

The absurdities of officialism have perhaps never been better illustrated than by the incident in the career of Lord Shaftesbury which the author of "Collections and Recollections" relates:

One winter evening in 1867 he was sitting in his library in Grosvenor square, when the servant told him that there was a poor man waiting to see him. The man was shown in and proved to be a laborer from Clerkenwell and one of the innumerable recipients of the old earl's charity.

He said, "My lord, you have been very good to me, and I have come to tell you what I have heard." It appeared that at the public house which he frequented be had overheard some Irishmen of desperate character plotting to blow up Clerkenwell prison. He gave Lord Shaftesbury the information, to be used as he thought best, but made it a condition that his name should not be divulged. If it were, his life would not be worth an bour's purchase.

Lord Shaftesbury pledged himself to secrecy, ordered his carriage and drove instantly to Whitehall. The authorities there refused, on grounds of offcia! practice, to entertain the information without the name and address of the informant. These, of course, could not be given. The warning was rejected, and the jail was blown up .-Youth's Companion.

"You haven't much sympathy for the request from your employees for shorter bours."

"Not much." answered Mr. Cumrox. Swaney and Thomas Alexander will meet at Mineral Springs, better known as Silverthorn driving park, on February 7, for the purpose of looking over the ground and considering the advisability of forming an organization to be known as the Hancock County Agricultural association.

The plan is to close the race track at the Silverthorn park, and after the formation of a stock company, to hold annual meetings.

HIS HAT AND UMBRELLA.

This Man Took a Quick Luncheon Sign at Its Word.

He was undoubtedly from the country. His umbrella, a big cotton affair, would have given him away even had he not had one trousers leg tucked into a boot. He wandered into one of the big quick luncheon places in lower Broadway. He was looking for something to eat and was just sitting down at a table when his eye caught a sign which read: "Watch Your Hats! The Management Will Not Be Responsible For Umbrellas and Hats Unless Checked by the Cashier."

"Where's this here cashier?" he asked the woman who came to wait on him.

"Up there in the little cage by the door." said the waitress.

The farmer stalked to the cashier's desk and laid down his umbrella and a big hat that was new five or six years ago. The cashier looked up in amaze-

"What does this mean?" he asked.

People were beginning to laugh, and the pretty cashier got red in the face. She took the hat and umbrella and wrote out a receipt. It was the first time in her life that she had been asked to check a bat, and she has been a cashier more years than one. - New York Tribune.

SUGGESTION FOR SCHOOL BOARD

IN ORDER TO ATTEND SCHOOL

Editor News Review-In your report of the proceedings of the recent meeting of the board of education you remark that for the want of business the session, although unusually well attended, was one of the briefest on record. Under the circumstances, perhaps, they will be grateful for suggestions along the line of business. I respectfully offer the following:

In our public schools there are enrolled a number of pupils residing field's company who had been, to use a within the corporation and entitled Scotch phrase, continuously and conto all the privileges of the city's tinually "heckled" by the manager at schools, who are obliged to bear an unequal burden in availing themselves of these privileges-in certain instances doubtless proving an absolute barrier to their doing so. I refer to those residing in the suburban or outlying districts, and who must incur leaving he determined to take his rethe expense of their own transportation. These are chiefly scholars of the higher grades, who must needs attend the Central building. Now why cannot our very efficient, progressive, wide-awake board of education come forward in this case and meet the exigencies of the situation by making some provision for the extra expense of those who are obliged to patronize the street cars. All will agree that every part of a school district, so far as it is practicable, should be placed on an equal footing. The great aim of our school system is to provide for the education of the masses—to bring it home to the people and to encourage all who are eligible to avail themselves to the utmost of all the privileges and benefits for which it provides. Would it not then be wise and in keeping with the genius and spirit of our free school system to make some special provision for the relief of those in the situation to which attention is here called. In the city of McKeesport the other day the board of education voted to pay the toll of school children across a bridge connecting two portions of the citya policy it seems to us is but the logical conclusion of such a situation, and for aught we know is the common practice. Why not apply the same principle in this case and carry the scholars in certain contingencies by street railway free of expense, the object in both cases being simply to remove impediments to scholars availing themselves of school privileges to which they are entitled. By reason of the geographical situation of our city-stretching as it does for miles along the river, the logic of some such a policy is the more apparent and suggests itself as a matter of simple justice to those residents of our city whose homes are far removed from the city's Perian Springs.

Provisions could be made against the abuse of such a policy by a sort of "mileage" system—the concession Council met at 1 o'clock yesterday being made to those residing say not afternoon at Columbian park for the less than a mile from the nearest school in which they are enrolled, the board of course reserving the right to determine the merits of the case in individual instances.

Speeches Eulogizing the Dead Woman's Character In Life Made by Baifour and Salisbury.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 26 .-The royal family yesterday took their tast loving look at the features of the dead queen. The shell was brought into the bedroom, where were waiting King Edward, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired, Sir James Reid, with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted household servants, and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body crom the bed to the cottin.

Great Was the Mourners' Grief.

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of the disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were recalled, and, with ingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before this white robed und peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead. Emperor William wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also retired, and the king was left alone. Sir James Reid, beckoning to the servants who were holding the coffin lid, asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly, "Close it finally. .. It must not be opened again."

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the Officers and men from the royal yacht took their stand around the coffin, over which the king, queen and kaiser gently laid the robes of a Knight of the Garter, placing at the head a diamond crown. Beneath lay the royal ensign, while hanging above was the union jack.

Mr. Balfour further said that in his judgment the importance of the crown in the British constitution was not & diminishing, but an increasing fac tor, and the cumulative result of a great ideal. Royal Family Gazed on Dead Oueen.

GREAT WAS THEIR GRIEF.

Queen Alexandra, Princesses and Children Much Effected.

KING STRICKEN WITH EMOTION.

Emperor William West Bitterly-Lid Closed and Body Then Taken Into Improvised Chapel-Rector of Whippingham Read Portion of Burial Service In Presence of Royal Family-In House mmons and House of Lords, Reply to King's Message, In Which Con-Was Expressed, Adopted. es Eulogising the Dead Woman's oter In Life Made by Baifour and ballsbury.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 26.-The royal fainily yesterday took their test loving look at the features of the dead queen. The shell was brought unto the bedroom, where were waitme King Edward, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired, Sir James Reid, with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted household servants, and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body from the bed to the cottin.

Great Was the Mourners' Grief.

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of the disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were recalled, and, with ingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before this white robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, uever moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead. Emperor Wiltiam wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also retired, and the king was left alone.
dir James Reid, beckoning to the servants who were holding the coffin lid, asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly, "Close it finally. It must opened again."

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the comin was borne into the dining room. they had suffered, and the suffered and splen-did character of the sovereign they had lost. At the altar was the rector of Whippingham, who read a portion of the funeral service in the presence of the royal family. Emperor William covered his face with his hands and the grief of Princess Beatrice was pitiful. After the benediction each laced a wreath upon the coffin, and then all retired.

Today the local volunteers and the forces in the vicinity, it was expected will pass through the Chapelle Ardente. After these will pass the correspondents of the leading papers of the world.

A very remarkable feature of all the proceedings is the intense martial air which pervades them. The naval parade off Spithead is to be a great affair, and the military arrangements

The lord chancellor, Lord Halsbury, and the speaker, Mr. William Court fully, read the message in their repective houses. It was as follows: 'Edward Rex:

Statesmen Praised Dead Queen.

Mr. Balfour then moved the address in reply to the king. He said in part: "The house never met under sadder circumstances nor had a duty more clearly laid upon it of expressing a sorrow extending from one end of the empire to the other. Every one feels not merely the national, but also the irreparable personal loss. In all the history of the British mon archy there has never been a case in which the feeling of national grief has been so deeply seated, so uni versal, or so spontaneous, not merely because a loss has fallen on the coun try, but because we feel that the eng of a great epoch has come, an epoch more crowded with important changes than any other of like length in the history of the world."

Mr. Balfour further said that in his judgment the importance of the crown in the British constitution was not a diminishing, but an increasing factor, and the cumulative result of a great ideal. Passing to the congratulation of the king, Mr. Balfour said A speech Made by Senator Depew In that they had unfailing confidence Ferom of Itie Present In that the great interests committed to the charge of the new sovereign were safe in his keening. They assured him the ungrudging support of loya' subjects and wisher him honor and long life and the greatest of all blessings to reign over a happy and contented people so that "in the eyes of an envious posterity his reign might fitly form an appropriate sequel to the great epoch which had just drawn to a close.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, seconded the motion, which was adopted, the members standing.

ADVOCATED SUBSIDY BILL

Favor of It's Passage In

Washington, Jan. 26.-Senator De pew, of New York, delivered in the senate a characteristically forceful and eloquent address in support of the shipping bill. The address, which occupied about an hour, was in the nature of an appeal for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, by granting of subsidies, as provided for in the pending measure. His discussion of the problems of transportation which now confront American manufacturers and American farmers were notably interesting and effective. The peroration in which he urged that the American flag be restored to the mastheads of the freight carrying ships of the United States was a brilliant piece of oratory and elicited cordial applause from senators on the floor and the crowds in the galleries.

Little progress was made with the Indian appropriation bill. About the last hour of the senate day was consion bills.

NAVAL BILL PASSED.

House Also Adopted the Conference Report, Upon the Army Reorganization Bill.

Washington, Jan. 28.-The house adopted the conference report upon the army reorganization bill. The contest over it was brief, Mr. Hull, chairman of the military affairs committee, preventing prolonged debate.

The debate was chiefly notable for a short exchange between Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, and Mr. Hay (Dem., Va.), a member of the conference committee, who reproached the Democratic leader for not making a fight for a temporary army when the bill was originally before the house. The naval appropriation bill was finally passed, and also 77 private pension bills.

LAST, SAU LOOK.

Royal Family Gazed on Dead Queen.

GREAT WAS THEIR GRIEF.

Queen Alexandra, Princesses and Children Much Effected.

over William Wept Bitterly-Lid Closed and Body Then Taken Into Improvised Chapel-Rector of Whippingham Read Portion of Burial Service In Presence of Royal Family-In House of Commons and House of Lords, Reply to King's Message, In Which Condelences Was Expressed, Adopted. Specches Eulogizing the Dead Woman's Character In Life Made by Balfour and ballsbury.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 26 .-The royal family yesterday took their tast loving look at the features of the dead queen. The shell was brought into the bedroom, where were waiting King Edward, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired, Sir James Reid, with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted household servants, and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body from the bed to the cottin.

Great Was the Mourners' Grief.

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of the disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were recalled, and, with ingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before this white robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead. Emperor William wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also re-tired, and the king was left alone. sir James Reid, beckoning to the servants who were holding the coffin lid. asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly, "Close it finally. It must not be opened again."

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the coffin was borne into the dining room. Officers and men from the royal yacht took their stand around the coffin, over which the king, queen and kaiser gently laid the robes of a Knight of the Garter, placing at the head a diamond crown. Beneath lay the royal ensign, while hanging above was the union jack.

Sector Read Portion of Funeral Service.

At the altar was the rector of Whippingham, who read a portion of the funeral service in the presence of the royal family. Emperor William covered his face with his hands and the grief of Princess Beatrice was pitiful. After the benediction each placed a wreath upon the coffin, and then all retired.

Today the local volunteers and the forces in the vicinity, it was expected, will pass through the Chapelle Ardente. After these will pass the correspondents of the leading papers of the world.

A very remarkable feature of all the proceedings is the intense martial air which pervades them. The naval parade off Spithead is to be a great affair, and the military arrangements at Windsor will be great.

Last night grenadiers were mounting their silent guard over the coffin. with guns reversed, arms crossed and heads bent. The silence was unbroken save by an occasional shuffle from the soldiers in changing their aneasy position. London, Jan. 26.-Both houses of parliament, Friday afternoon, received identical messages from the king and voted condolences with his malesty on his bereavement and con gratulations on his accession to the throne. The lord chancellor, Lord Halsbury, and the speaker, Mr. William Couri Hully, read the message in their reepective houses. It was as follows:

'Edward Rex: "The king is fully assured that the house of commons will share the deep sorrow which has befallen his maesty and the nation by the lamentale death of his mother, the late need. Her devotion to the welfare if her country and her people, and ner wise and beneficent rule during the 64 years of her glorious reign will ever be held in affectionate memory by her loyal and devoted subjects throughout the dominions of the Brit ish empire."

Statesmen Praised Dead Queen.

Mr. Balfour then moved the address in reply to the king. He said in part: "The house never met under sadder circumstances nor had a duty more clearly laid upon it of expressing a sorrow extending from one end of the empire to the other. Every one feels not merely the national, but also the trreparable personal loss. In all the history of the British mon archy there has never been a case in which the feeling of national grief has been so deeply seated, so uni versal, or so spontaneous, not merely because a loss has fallen on the coun try, but because we feel that the end of a great epoch has come, an epoch more crowded with important changes than any other of like length in the history of the world."

Mr. Balfour further said that in his judgment the importance of the crown in the British constitution was not a diminishing, but an increasing fac tor, and the cumulative result of a great ideal. Passing to the congratu lation of the king, Mr. Bulfour said A speech Made by Senator Depew In that they had unfailing confidence that the great interests committed to the charge of the new sovereign were safe in his keening. They assured him the ungrudging support of loyal subjects and wished him honor and long life and the greatest of all blessings to reign over a happy and contented people so that "in the eyes of an envious posterity his reign might fitly form an appropriate sequel to the great epoch which had just drawn

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, seconded the motion, which was adopted, the mem-

Kiel, Jan. 26.-Emperor William ordered a squadron of German warships to proceed to Spithead and participate in the naval display on the occasion of the obsequies of Queen Victoria. The squadron likely will be commanded by Prince Henry of Prussia.

In both houses the galleries were filled with a notable gathering of peeresses and diplomats. Mr. Choate, the United States ambassador; Mr. White, the secretary of the United States embassy, and Mr. Carter, the second secretary, and their wives, were in the galleries of the house of lords, where Lord Salisbury moved the reply to the king's message in a speech full of emotion. He said in part that in performing the saddest duty that had ever fallen to him he was only echoing accents of sorrow, deeper than he had ever known of this nation, which had been called forth by the singular loss which, under the dispensation of Providence, they had suffered, and their admiration of the giorious reign and splendid character of the sovereign they had lost. Being a constitutional monarch, with restricted powers, she had reigned by sheer force of character, but the lovableness of her disposition and by her hold on the hearts of her of governing by love and esteem would be never forgotten, nor how much she assisted in the elevation of her people by their simple contem- CARNEGIE HAS CONTROL? plation of her brilliant qualities as a wife, mother and woman. Her wonderful powers of observing with absolute strictness the limits of her powers as a constitutional sovereign and at the same time maintaining steady and persistent influence over the actions of her ministers inspired the greatest admiration. She always maintained a rigorous supervision over public affairs, giving her ministers the benefit of her advice and warning them of dangers. No minister could disregard her views or press her to disregard them without feeling he had incurred a great danger. She had brought the country peacefully through a great change, from old to new England. She possessed extraordinary knowledge of what people would think. He had always said that when he knew what the queen thought he knew for a certainty what her subjects would think. especially the middle classes. The king, he said, had been familiar for a generation with political and social life. He enjoyed enormous popularity, and was almost as much beloved in foreign courts and countries. Congratulations could be tendered him with earnest sincerity and in the belief that he will adorn the throne and

Favor of It's Passage In the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 26.-Senator De pew, of New York, delivered in the senate a characteristically forceful and eloquent address in support of the shipping bill. The address, which nature of an appeal for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, by granting of subsidies, as provided for in the pending measure. His discussion of the problems of transportation which now confront American manufacturers and American farmers were notably interesting and effective. The peroration in which he urged that the American flag be restored to the mastheads of the freight carrying ships of the United States was a brilliant piece of oratory and elicited cordial applause from senators on the floor and the crowds in the galleries.

Little progress was made with the Indian appropriation bill. About the last hour of the senate day was consumed in the passage of private pen-

LEGISLATION NEEDED

President Asks For Laws For Philippines.

NOT LIKELY AT THIS SESSION.

Some Members So Asserted-Taft Asked That Spooner Bill Be Passed-Pacification of the Rebels Proceeding Favorably, According to Reports Received.

Washington, Jan. 26.-The brief recommendation in the message of the president sent to the senate urging immediate legislation in the interest of the Filipinos caused general surprise among senators and occasional speculation upon the probability of an extra session of congress immediately after March 4. Senators generally say that they have had no intimation from the white house that a special session of the entire congress may be desirable, but they unite as one man in saying that no Philippine legislation is possible during the remainder of this session.

The president transmitted to the senate a report of the secretary of war, enclosing the report of the Taft Philippine commission. In his message of transmittal the president says that the report includes not only the reports of the commission, but its act of legislation and other important information relating to the condition and immediate wants of the Philippine islands.

Concluding, the president says:

President Recommends Legislation.

"I earnestly recommend legislation under which the government of the islands may have authority to assit in their peaceful industrial development in the directions indicated by the secretary of war."

Secretary Root's letter of transmittal is dated Jan. 24, addressed to the president, and is in part as follows:

"I beg leave to supplement my annual report of Nov. 30, 1900, by transmitting a report made by the Philippine commission on that date, but only recently received at the war department. At the same time I wish to call attention to some conditions existing in the Philippine islands which indicate that the development of that country along the lines of peaceful industrial progress now requires the exercise of powers of civil government not vested in this department, nor in you as military commander, but requiring a grant of authority from the congress.

"The commission gives a gratifying account of the progress made in the pacification of the country, and the gradual subsidence of guerilla war-Information received subsequent to the date of the report confirms the favorable anticipations of the commission. A personal letter received by me from Judge Taft, dated

Dec. 14, 1900, says:

"'Since writing you about 3,000 insurgents in Ilocos Norte have surrendered and 10,000 persons who were not well effected towards us in Panay have taken the oath of allegiance. I have already received two papers from native priests, 18 in number, and I am told that there will be a great many other papers signed by a great many more native priests, tendering their allegiance to the United States and promising ndelity without mental reserve. The native priests are those who have held out longest in favor of the insurgents and against the Americans, and I deem this action as of great importance. The army is hitting small but hard knocks against the insurgents everywhere. Since the election there has been a great falling off in the activity of the insurgents in aggressiveness.'

Secretary Root further said in part that on the 22d of January he received a dispatch, which he gave, in the course of which Judge Taft suggested that if advisable he communicate to senators and representatives a recommendation that the Spooner bill be passed and pointing out its urgent necessity.

Another Dispatch From Taft.

A dispatch from Judge Taft, dated

Jan. 9, 1901, says:

"Conditions rapidly improving. Rifles, officers and privates are being captured or surrendered daily in considerable numbers in North and South Luzon. Same conditions in Panay, where more than 35,000 have taken oath of allegiance. Insurgent forces completely scattered and leader, Delgado, negotiating for surrender. Work in Samar slower because of insurgent band long uncontested occupation of interior and swollen streams early in campaign. Campaign in Samar has driven bands into Leyte, producing disturbance, but information is that conditions there favorable. Federal party for peace; direct result of election. Well organized and rapidly increasing in Manila; preparing to extend organization to many provinces on pressing and numerous invitations from leading citizens."

The section of the report on the liquor traffic in Manila indicates that the powers of the commission are ample to deal with that subject, and the success which they have attained will compare favorably with the results in this country. Many false and misleading statements have been made regarding the use of intoxicating liquors in Manila. The fact is that this traffic is more rigidly and effectively regulated and kept within bounds in the city of Manila than in any city of similar or greater size in tne United States.

The report itself is a very voluminous production, divided into many heads, and exhibiting the progress made by the commission in carrying out its plans for the Americanization of the Island.

A farmer is known by his furrow as "the carpenter is known by his chips." It takes a firm hand and a true eye to turn a straight furrow. No wonder the farmer wears out, spite of exercise and fresh air. One day's work on the farm would tire many a trained athlete. And the farmer works hardest of all. The first up and the last to bed, feeding his team before he feeds himself, his work is practically never done. Why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates? He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor. If he does not, he will soon complain of "poor health." The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the stomach, life to the lungs, purity to the blood. It supplies Nature with the substances by which she builds up the body, just as the farmer supplies Nature with the substances that build up the crops.

"I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "It cured me of a very bad case of indigestion associated with torpid liver. Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not sleep nor work but very little. The little that I ate did not agree with me, bowels constipated, and life was a misery to me. I wrote to Dr. Pierce giving the symptoms, and asked for advice. He advised me to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' so I began the use of it and after taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work; but soon got worse, so I again began the use of it and used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."

LEGISLATION NEEDED.

President Asks For Laws For Philippines.

NOT LIKELY AT THIS SESSION.

Some Members So Asserted—Taft Asked That Spooner Bill Be Passed-Pacification of the Rebels Proceeding Favorably, According to Reports Received.

Washington, Jan. 26.-The brief recommendation in the message of the president sent to the senate urging immediate legislation in the interest of the Filipinos caused general surprise among senators and occasional speculation upon the probability of an extra session of congress immediately after March 4. Senators generally say that they have had no inti-mation from the white house that a special session of the entire congress may be desirable, but they unite as one man in saying that no Philippine legislation is possible during the remainder of this session.

The president transmitted to the senate a report of the secretary of war, enclosing the report of the Taft Philippine commission. In his message of transmittal the president says that the report includes not only the reports of the commission, but its act of legislation and other important information relating to the condition and immediate wants of the Philippine islands.

Concluding, the president says: President Recommends Legislation.

"I earnestly recommend legislation under which the government of the islands may have authority to assit in their peaceful industrial development in the directions indicated by the secretary of war."

Secretary Root's letter of transmit-tal is dated Jan. 24, addressed to the president, and is in part as follows:

"I beg leave to supplement my annual report of Nov. 30, 1900, by transmitting a report made by the Philippine commission on that date, but only recently received at the war department. At the same time I wish to call attention to some conditions existing in the Philippine islands which indicate that the development of that country along the lines of peaceful industrial progress now requires the exercise of powers of civil government not vested in this department, nor in you as military commander, but requiring a grant of authority from the congress.

A dispatch from Judge Taft, dated Jan. 9, 1901, says:

"Conditions rapidly improving. Rifles, officers and privates are being captured or surrendered daily in considerable numbers in North and South Luzon. Same conditions in Panay, where more than 35,000 have taken oath of allegiance. Insurgent forces completely scattered and leader, Delgado, negotiating for surrender. Work in Samar slower because of insurgent band long uncontested occupation of interior and swollen streams early in campaign. Campaign in Samar has driven bands into Leyte, producing disturbance, but information is that conditions there favorable. Federal party for peace; direct result of election. Well organised and rapidly increasing in Manila;

many provinces on pressing and numerous invitations from leading citizens."

The section of the report on the liquor traffic in Manila indicates that the powers of the commission are ample to deal with that subject, and the success which they have attained will compare favorably with the results in this country. Many false and misleading statements have been made regarding the use of intoxicating liquors in Manila. The fact is that this traffic is more rigidly and effectively regulated and kent within bounds in the city of Manila than in any city of similar or greater size in tne United States.

The report itself is a very voluminous production, divided into many heads, and exhibiting the progress made by the commission in carrying out its plans for the Americanization of the island.

A farmer is known by his furrow as "the carpenter is known by his chips." It takes a firm hand and a true eye to turn a straight furrow. No wonder the farmer wears out, spite of exercise and fresh air. One day's work on the farm would tire many a trained athlete. And the farmer works hardest of all. The first up and the last to bed, feeding his team before he feeds himself, his work is practically never done. Why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates? He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor. If he does not, he will soon complain of "poor health." The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalstomach, life to the lungs, purity to the blood. It supplies Nature with the substances by which she builds up the body, just as the farmer supplies Nature with the substances that build up the crops.

"I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "It cured me of a very bad case of indigestion associated with torpid liver. Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not aleep nor work but very little. The little that I ate did not agree with me, bowels constipated, and life was a misery to me. I wrote to Dr. Pierce giving the symptoms, and asked for advice. He advised me to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' so I began the use of it and after taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work; but soon got worse, so I again began, the use of it and used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."

The News Review office is today, as it always has been, a full union office. We had a regular pressman, a man who has been in our employ for years. off and on. One morning, not long since, we laid him off for half a day, as we had a perfect right to do, as there was no work on hand in his department, and notified him to report for duty at dinner. He entered no protest, made no remonstrance; not a word of anger passed between him and the management. We expected him at 1 p. m., as his services are required for press work in the afternoon. He never returned at all, many days passing by. He broke all union rule in so doing, according to our understanding of unionism. Lester McBane, as-

Yesterday it was officially announced that they did not intend to let President Hughes leave town without compelling him to argue the question of a uniform list in public debate.

This move on the part of the jiggermen comes as a surprise, and it is taken in the same manner by the Brotherhood members.

All the News in the News Review.

Many women who have enjoyed good health all their life begin to fade when they reach the age of forty-four. They grow nervous and irritable and suffer with sick-headaches. Their livers are torpid, their digestion is impaired and their bowels are irregular. They are experiencing the "change of life." And it is not strange that the cessation of the menstrual habit after thirty years operation should disturb the system and tax the strongest constitution. This trying period has no terror for a woman who uses Wine of Cardui. It builds up her strength and prepares her for the ordeal. When the change of life is not safely passed, a woman quickly becomes an invalid. Slumbering disease germs are given increased activity and they appear in aggravated form. If you take Wine of Cardui regularly when approaching the change of life you will be assured better health than you have ever enjoyed before. A happy old age and restful calm will be your reward. Mrs. Campbell was cured after suffering three years with "change of life." Thedford's Black-Draught, the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui, assimilates with it perfectly, curing digestive liver and kidney affections, and throwing impurities and disease germs out of the system. Both working together make a well and happy woman.

Dun's Review Notes Big Business In Staples and Manufactured

New York, Jan. 26.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Rarely has there been more business in staples and in manufactured goods at practicany unchanged prices than during the period since Nov. 1. This week seems to have marked the climax of enormous dealings at hgures which have become ramiliar. The heavy trade in pig iron at better prices, the larger distribution of dry goods at a nrmer range of quotations and the rush to secure prompt delivery of boots and shoes, an indicate that business may have escaped one of those weary readjustments of prices which have proved often so trying in recent years. Jobbing trade in the interior is good, and collections continue excellent. Bank clearings at New York gain 52.1 per cent over 1900 and 1.3 per cent over 1899 for the week, while at leading cities outside New York there is a gain of 9.9 per cent over 1900 and 3.4 per cent over 1899. Railroad earnings thus far reported for January show a gain of 11.4 per cent over last year and 24.6 per cent over 1899.

After a week of quiet conditions, partly due to uncertainty regarding competition among leading interests, the iron and steel industry has taken another long stride forward. The feature was enormous buying of pig iron at an advance to $13.25 at Pittsburg. This sudden activity in the raw material removed fear that stocks might be accumulating at furnaces and gave some idea of the heavy contracts for finished products taken by the mills. In some directions there is less foreign inquiry, although an unusually heavy slipment of billets went to Glasgow and exports of rails have not ceased. Freight rates to the sea- George Delaney Gets a Workhouse coast are still considered excessive by manufacturers, and there is more inclination to push domestic business on this account.

Arbitration is expected to prevent suspension of work at the furnaces, Wednesday afternoon, was given a When the feet are sore and chafed with where a strike was threatened on Pooling of coke interests outside the Connellsville region is always been inferior and sales only in the Canton workhouse. Delaney effected at concessions.

It is difficult to find encouraging features in the wool situation. Sales than in the preceeding week, and in four weeks the aggregate is only 13,-275,700 pounds, against 21,504,700 last year. Not only is there an utter purchases by manufacturers are restricted to requirements for orders on hand. Domestic quotations have not hardened in sympathy with the better prices obtained at London, while a few sales are reported at moderate concessions. Hopes for the future are based on indifference of dealers and growers to sell at current prices, but present heavy stocks will be augmented in a few months by the new clip. Dullness in the woolen goods is the difficulty, and while the manufacture is depressed there is little encouragement for the raw material.

Despite the advonce in prices over those prevailing a year ago, exports of wheat, including flour, from Atlantic ports for the week were 2,568,818 bushels, against 1.644.149 last year, and of corn 3.472,614 bushels, against 3.097.607 in 1900. Western receipts of corn were heavy, amount a way that lifts the piece into a class ing to 4.315.450 bushels, against 2,911,035 last year, but there is complant of poor quality.

Failures for the week were 506 in the United States, against 231 last rear, and 46 in Canada, against 38 last year.

TRAVERSED CONSIDERABLE RANGE.

Some Prices Went Up on the Stock Exchange Friday.

New York, Jan. 26.-Prices travers ed a considerable range Friday from the low level to the top level, cover ing one point for a large number of stocks and ranging from 2 to about 31/2 for some of the most prominent and most active in the list. The number of stocks which at any time got a point away from Thursday night's level in either direction was small, however. The early decline it prices was assisted by London's dis position to sell American stocks, which had established declines range ing up to nearly a point in some or the American stocks before the open ing here. The New York market opened depressed and weakness was rather acute in some cases, notably in St. Paul and Brooklyn Transit These stocks later in the day led the advance so that their extreme range was wide. St. Paul rising 3% fron. the lowest, and closing at the top, while Brooklyn Transit advanced at movement of the day was that of the southwesterns, which followed show of firmness for several days past in Kansas and Texas preferred There was also very beavy absorp tion of the bonds of the St. Louis Southwestern company and the Mis souri, Kansas and Texas company Friday morning before the rise in the stocks was inaugurated. The ad vance in the group reached 3% in Mis souri. Kansas and Texas preferred 214 in the common, and about 2 points each in the St. Louis Western stocks. Wabash preferred Texas and Pacific and Missouri Pacific. steel stocks were inclined to strength all day and showed good net gains Sugar also showed decided improve ment. Lost Her Match.

Loren P. Merrill of Paris tells the story of the particular old woman, and be makes her a resident of Livermore. She was not only old, but she was of the worrying, fretting species of antiquity! She had fretted away her friends and relatives until she was at length living alone in a small bouse in the outskirts of the town Just as she was retiring one bitter cold night she discovered that but one unlighted match remained in the house. She lay awake until almost daylight, worrying and disturbing berself with wondering if the match was good At last she got up and hunted up the match and struck it to see if it would light her kindlings extreme 2%. As a Food For the Skin.

To Make It Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin trritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1901.

EVANGELISTIC.

The bible readings at the First M. E. church, under the direction and expounding of Evangelist Joseph Smith, are attracting very great attention, and the afternoon sittings are anxiously awaited by bible students.

AN OUTRAGE.

Read the article on our first page of today's issue respecting the attack made upon the News Review by men in this city who claim to be union pressmen. In the light of the facts portrayed, are we not fully justified in fellows designated are simply infamous? We purpose making them dance a merry tune under the music of an outraged law.

THE SATURDAY REVIEW.

There is no nicer appearing weekly paper in this section than the Saturday Review. It is printed on good material, from the most readable type; the sheet comes clean, from the hands of a competent union pressman, and the selections and general reading matter cover all the topics of the day, local, county, state and national. Advertisers will make note, as the weekly is a good advertising medium. Only $1 per year.

ILLUMINATIONS.

This city will be well lighted. The finest electrical apparatus in the land will do the work. . Mr. Healy is authority for the statement that no pains or expense will be spared in the consummation of this much-to-be-desired top, begins to be a useful receptacle, end. The gentleman appreciates the fact that a perfect lighting system is a source of much gratification to the public at large, and to consumers in general, and he has been doing every- longer be considered to protect the thing within his power to compass body. This will be good news to our people, if true, and we have the assurance that it is the plain and unvarnished truth.

WAIT FOR THE STORY.

We will tell you an interesting story, in the near future, of an outrage perpetrated against the News Review office some time since, when the writer was on duty at Manila, and when the cowards who put up the job thought that a Spanish bullet might possibly put an end to the old man, as they saw fit to term him in their elegant vocabulary of language. This outrage mer. coned cost this office many hundreds of dollars and March came near resulting disastrously to the owner and proprietor from a financial standpoint. The full knowledge of the dirty deal, the modus operandi thereof, and the identity of the individuals engaged therein only the individuals engaged therein only came to us a few days since, the evia committee who is fully conversant of lars. dated March 1, 1901, due March 1, with all the details with all the details and who entered protest against the nasty work attempted in the year 1898. Had we known all the particulars when we first landed on this side of the water, and shook hands with East Liverpool friends and well wishers, certain individuals would have been bounced through the front door with a jar and a jump and a bounce which would have shocked, to the extreme, their cowardly carcasses.

A Chinese Curiosity.

"A Chinaman in San Francisco," says a gossiper in the Philadelphia Record, "showed me once an ivory ball as big as your two fists, with six smaller balls inside it. It was the most wonderful thing I ever saw. The Chinaman said that the balls had been begun by his grandfather and that he was the third generation to work on them. He told me how the work was done.

"It begins with a solid block of ivory. which is turned into a ball and then carved in a latticed pattern with tiny saw toothed knives. Through the lattice, with other knives that are bent in various shapes, the second ball is carved, but is kept fast to the first one by a thin strip of ivory left at the top and by another left at the bottom. Then tackled through the first and second ones, and so the work goes on till all the balls are finished, when the strips that hold them firm are cut away, and they all revolve freely, one inside the

They are priceless, of course. Some cheap balls are made of vegetable ivory, being carved while the material is soft, like a potato. These, though, are not worth more than a few dollars at

The Evolution of the Pocket.

The ancient wore a single pouch at his belt. The modern has-how many pockets in an ordinary costume for outdoors? Let us count them: In the trousers five, in the waistcoat five, in the jacket five, in the overcoat five, making 20 in all, a full score of little pokes or bags, and arranged so convenlently that they are scarce noticed.

Truly this is an evolution! How long may it be before we have pockets in our hatbands-where the Irishman carries his pipe, the American soldier his toothbrush and internally the pettifogger his legal papers, the papers that his predecessors in England thrust into the typical "green bag?" How long before there may be pockets in our gloves-for there are, I believe, patents covering this invention-and in our shoes? The cane also, with its screw

An East Ender Has a Matter Which He Thinks Could Occupy

Rev. C. E. Garvin, who has been SOME OF THEIR ATTENTION

Have to Pay Street Car Fare

IN ORDER TO ATTEND SCHOOL

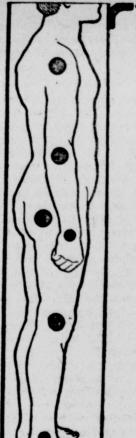

Editor News Review-In your report of the proceedings of the recent meeting of the board of education you remark that for the want of business the session, although unusually well attended, was one of the briefest on record. Under the circumstances, perhaps, they will be grateful for suggestions along the line of business. I respectfully offer the following: In our public schools there are enrolled a number of pupils residing within the corporation and entitled to all the privileges of the city's schools, who are obliged to bear an unequal burden in availing themselves of these privileges-in certain instances doubtless proving an absolute barrier to their doing so. I refer to those residing in the suburban or outlying districts, and who must incur the expense of their own transportation. These are chiefly scholars of the higher grades, who must needs attend the Central building. Now why cannot our very efficient, progressive, wide-awake board of education come forward in this case and meet the exigencies of the situation by making some provision for the extra expense of those who are obliged to patronize the street cars. All will agree that every part of a school district, so far as it is practicable, should be placed on an equal footing. The great aim of our school system is to provide for the education of the masses-to bring it home to the people and to encourage all who are eligible to avail themselves to the utmost of all the privivides. Would it not then be wise and in keeping with the genius and ing beverage. spirit of our free school system to make some special provision for the relief of those in the situation to which attention is here called. In the city of McKeesport the other day the board of education voted to pay the toll of school children across a bridge connecting two portions of the citya policy it seems to us is but the logical conclusion of such a situation, and for aught we know is the common practice. Why not apply the same principle in this case and carry the scholars in certain contingencies by street railway free of expense, the object in both cases being simply to remove impediments to scholars availing themselves of school privileges to which they are entitled. By reason of the geographical situation of our city-stretching as it does for miles along the river, the logic of some such a policy is the more apparent and suggests itself as a matter of simple justice to those residents of our city whose homes are far remov-

Provisions could be made against the abuse of such a policy by a sort of "mileage" system-the concession Council met at 1 o'clock yesterday being made to those residing say not afternoon at Columbian park for the less than a mile from the nearest school in which they are enrolled, the board of course reserving the right to determine the merits of the case in individual instances.

A Bit of Red Tape.

The absurdities of officialism have perhaps never been better illustrated than by the incident in the career of Lord Shaftesbury which the author of "Collections and Recollections" relates:

One winter evening in 1867 he was sitting in his library in Grosvenor square, when the servant told him that there was a poor man waiting to see him. The man was shown in and proved to be a laborer from Clerken well and one of the innumerable recipients of the old earl's charity.

He said, "My lord, you have been very good to me, and I have come to tell you what I have heard." It appeared that at the public house which he frequented he had overheard some Irishmen of desperate character plotting to blow up Clerkenwell prison. He gave Lord Shaftesbury the information, to be used as he thought best, but made it a condition that his name should not be divulged. If it were, his life would not be worth an bour's purchase.

Lord Shaftesbury pledged himself to secrecy, ordered his carriage and drove instantly to Whitehall. The authorties there refused, on grounds of offcia! practice, to entertain the information without the name and address of the informant. These, of course, could not be given. The warning was rejected, and the jail was blown up .-Youth's Companion.

Royal Family Gazed on Dead Queen.

GREAT WAS THEIR GRIEF.

Queen Alexandra, Princesses and Children Much Effected.

KING STRICKEN WITH EMOTION.

Emperor William Wept Bitterly-Lid Closed and Body Then Taken Into Improvised Chapel-Rector of Whippingham Read Portion of Burial Service In Presence of Royal Family-In House of Commons and House of Lords, Reply to King's Message, In Which Condelences Was Expressed, Adopted. Specches Eulogizing the Dead Woman's Character In Life Made by Balfour and Salisbury.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 26 .-The royal family yesterday took their tast loving look at the features of the dead queen. The shell was brought into the bedroom, where were waiting King Edward, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Sir James Reid and the royal ladies. The latter having retired. Sir James Reid. with reverent hands, assisted by three trusted household servants, and in the presence of the king, the emperor and the duke, removed the body crom the bed to the cottin.

Great Was the Mourners' Grief.

In death it was lovelier than in the closing days of life. Not a trace of the ravages of the disease was visible. The servants having retired, Queen Alexandra, the princesses and the children were recalled, and, with ingering steps and stifled sobs, they passed slowly before this white robed and peaceful figure. At the foot, never moving, stood the king, and when the mourning crowd had passed there remained only the son and grandson of the dead. Emperor Wiltiam wept even more bitterly than the royal ladies. Finally he also re-tired, and the king was left alone. sir James Reid, beckoning to the servants who were holding the coffin lid, asked the king's instructions.

For a few seconds the king stood speechless, stricken with emotion at the last farewell. Then he said quickly, "Close it finally. It must act be opened again,"

Thus the remains of England's greatest ruler were forever closed from human view. Reverently the coffin was borne into the dining room. Officers and men from the royal yacht took their stand around the coffin, over which the king, queen and caiser gently laid the robes of a Knight of the Garter, placing at the head a diamond crown. Beneath lay the royal ensign, while hanging above was the union jack.

Rector Read Portion of Funeral Service. Whippingham, who read a portion of the funeral service in the presence of the royal family. Emperor William covered his face with his hands and the grief of Princess Beatrice was pitiful. After the benediction each placed a wreath upon the coffin, and then all retired.

Today the local volunteers and the forces in the vicinity, it was expected, will pass through the Chapelle Ardente. After these will pass the correspondents of the leading papers of the world.

A very remarkable feature of all the proceedings is the intense martial air which pervades them. The naval parade off Spithead is to be a great affair, and the military arrangements at Windsor will be great.

Last night grenadiers were mounting their silent guard over the coffin. with guns reversed, arms crossed and heads bent. The silence was unbroken save by an occasional shuffle from the soldiers in changing their aneasy position.

London, Jan. 26.—Both houses of parliament, Friday afternoon, receivd identical messages from the king and voted condolences with his malesty on his bereavement and con gratulations on his accession to the

The lord chancellor, Lord Halsbury, and the speaker, Mr. William Court Gully, read the message in their repective houses. It was as follows: Edward Rex:

"The king is fully assured that the house of commons will share the deep sorrow which has befallen his maesty and the nation by the lamentaole death of his mother, the late jueen. Her devotion to the welfare of her country and her people, and ner wise and beneficent rule during ever be held in affectionate memory by her loyal and devoted subjects throughout the dominions of the British empire."

Statesmen Praised Dead Queen.

Mr. Balfour then moved the address in reply to the king. He said in part: "The house never met under saddet circumstances nor had a duty more clearly laid upon it of expressing a sorrow extending from one end of the empire to the other. Every one feels not merely the national, but also the irreparable personal loss. In all the history of the British mon archy there has never been a case in which the feeling of national grief has been so deeply seated, so uni versal, or so spontaneous, not merely because a loss has fallen on the coun try, but because we feel that the end of a great epoch has come, an epoch more crowded with important changes than any other of like length in the history of the world,"

Mr. Balfour further said that in his judgment the importance of the crown in the British constitution was not a diminishing, but an increasing fac tor, and the cumulative result of a great ideal. Passing to the congratulation of the king, Mr. Balfour said that they had unfailing confidence that the great interests committed to the charge of the new sovereign were safe in his keening. They assured him the ungrudging support of loya' subjects and wisher him honor and long life and the greatest of all blessings to reign over a happy and contented people so that "in the eyes of an envious posterity his reign might fitly form an appropriate sequel to the great epoch which had just drawn to a close.

He said in part that in performing the saddest duty that had ever fallen to him he was only echoing accents of sorrow, deeper than he had ever known of this nation, which had been called forth by the singular loss which, under the dispensation of Providence, they had suffered, and their admiration of the glorious reign and splendid character of the sovereign they had lost. ADVOCATED SUBSIDY BILL.

A Speech Made by Senator Depew In Favor of It's Passage In the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 26.-Senator De pew, of New York, delivered in the senate a characteristically forceful and eloquent address in support of the shipping bill. The address, which occupied about an hour, was in the nature of an appeal for the upbuilding of the American merchant marine, by granting of subsidies, as provided for in the pending measure. His discussion of the problems of transportation which now confront American manufacturers and American farmers were notably interesting and effective. The peroration in which he urged that the American flag be restored to the mastheads of the freight carrying ships of the United States was a brilliant piece of oratory and elicited cordial applause from senators on the floor and the crowds in the galleries.

New York, Jan. 26 .- Rev. Arthur J. Brown, of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, received the following cablegram Friday from the Rev. W. O. Elterich, secretary of the East Shan Tung mission:

"Governor suggests missionaries return stations. Promises full protection. Re-establishes legal status native Christians."

The board has authorized the return to Shan Tung of Rev. and Mrs. Robert M. Mather, of Chambersburg, Pa., and W. F. Seymour, M. D., and Mrs.

Seymour, of Reedsburg, Wis. Paris, Jan. 26.—A Havas agency dispatch from Shanghai, dated Jan. 25, said the diplomats had decided unanimously to notify the Chinese plenipotentiaries that the military arrangements of the powers depend on the promptitude with which China executes her engagements. They will also demand that the death penalty be imposed on four Chinese functionaries, including Chouang Ying Nien. A posthumous death penalty will also be demanded for Prince Kang Yi (assistant grand secretary and president of the civil board, who committed suicide). They will finally ask that the death penalty be declared in the case of General Tung Fuh Siang and that it be carried out when he is captured.

Pekin, Jan. 26.-The foreign ministers sent a note to the Chinese plenipotentiaries on the lines previously stated.

Upon receipt of the dispatch announcing the death of Queen Victoria the meeting of ministers then in session immediately adjourned.

Prince Ching on Wednesday assured a committee of missionaries that there was no intention or desire on the part of the Chinese government to place restrictions upon the missions, and that the government itself never had in the past any objections to the missionaries or to their methods. The missionaries are greatly pleased with Prince Ching's frankly expressed assurance.

LEGISLATION NEEDED.

President Asks For Laws For Philippines.

NOT LIKELY AT THIS SESSION.

Some Members So Asserted—Taft Asked That Spooner Bill Be Passed-Pacification of the Rebels Proceeding Favorably, According to Reports Received.

Washington, Jan. 26.-The brief recommendation in the message of the president sent to the senate urging immediate legislation in the interest of the Filipinos caused general surprise among senators and occasional speculation upon the probability of an extra session of congress immediately after March 4. Senators generally say that they have had no intimation from the white house that a special session of the entire congress may be desirable, but they unite as one man in saying that no Philippine legislation is possible during the remainder of this session.

The president transmitted to the senate a report of the secretary of war, enclosing the report of the Taft Philippine commission. In his message of transmittal the president says that the report includes not only the reports of the commission, but its act of legislation and other important information relating to the condition and immediate wants of the Philippine islands.

Concluding, the president says: President Recommends Legislation.

"I earnestly recommend legislation under which the government of the islands may have authority to assit in their peaceful industrial development in the directions indicated by the secretary of war."

Secretary Root's letter of transmittal is dated Jan. 24, addressed to the president, and is in part as follows:

"I beg leave to supplement my annual report of Nov. 30, 1900, by transmitting a report made by the Philippine commission on that date, but only recently received at the war department. At the same time I wish to call attention to some conditions existing in the Philippine islands which indicate that the development of that country along the lines of peaceful industrial progress now requires the exercise of powers of civil government not vested in this department, nor in you as military commander, but requiring a grant of authority from the congress.

"The commission gives a gratifying account of the progress made in the pacification of the country, and the gradual subsidence of guerilla war-fare. Information received subsequent to the date of the report confirms the favorable anticipations of the commission. A personal letter re- Fauber, aged 19, tried on the charge ceived by me from Judge Taft, dated Dec. 14, 1900, says:

"'Since writing you about 3,000 insurgents in Ilocos Norte have surrendered and 10.000 persons who were not well effected towards us in Panay have taken the oath of allegiance. I have already received two papers from native priests, 18 in number, and I am told that there will be a great many other papers signed by a great many more native priests, tendering their allegiance to the United States and promising ndelity without mental reserve. The native priests are those who have held out longest in favor of the insurgents and against the Americans, and I deem this action as of great importance. The army is hitting small but hard knocks against the insurgents everywhere. Since the election there has been a great falling off in the activity of the insurgents in aggressiveness."

Secretary Root further said in part that on the 22d of January he received a dispatch, which he gave, in the course of which Judge Taft suggested that if advisable he communicate to senators and representatives a recommendation that the Spooner bill be passed and pointing out its urgent necessity.

Another Dispatch From Taft.

A dispatch from Judge Taft, dated Jan. 9, 1901, says:

rapidly improving. "Conditions Rifles, officers and privates are being captured or surrendered daily in considerable numbers in North and South Luzon. Same conditions in Panay, where more than 35,000 have taken oath of allegiance. Insurgent forces completely scattered and leader, Delgado, negotiating for surrender. Work in Samar slower because of insurgent band long uncontested occupation of interior and swollen streams early in campaign. Campaign in Samar has driven bands into Leyte, producing disturbance, but information is that conditions there favorable. Federal party for peace; direct result of election. Well organized and rapidly increasing in Manila; preparing to extend organization to numerous invitations from leading citizens."

The section of the report on the liquor traffic in Manila indicates that the powers of the commission are ample to deal with that subject, and the success which they have attained will compare favorably with the results in this country. Many false and misleading statements have been made regarding the use of intoxicating liquors in Manila. The fact is that this traffic is more rigidly and effectively regulated and kept within bounds in the city of Manila than in any city of similar or greater size in tne United States.

The report itself is a very voluminous production, divided into many heads, and exhibiting the progress made by the commission in carrying out its plans for the Americanization of the island.

A farmer is known by his furrow as "the carpenter is known by his chips." It takes a firm hand and a true eve to turn a straight furrow. No wonder the farmer wears out, spite of exercise and fresh air. One day's work on the farm would tire many a trained athlete. And the farmer works hardest of all. The first up and the last to bed, feeding his team before he feeds himself, his work is practically never done. Why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates? He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor. If he does not, he will soon complain of "poor health." The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the stomach, life to the lungs, purity to the blood. It supplies Nature with the substances by which she builds up the body, just as the farmer supplies Nature with the substances that build up the crops.

"I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "It cured me of a very bad case of indigestion associated with torpid liver. Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not sleep nor work but very little. The little that I ate did not agree with me, bowels constipated, and life was a misery to me. I wrote to Dr. Pierce giving the symptoms, and asken for advice. He advised me to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' so I began the use of it and after taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work; but soon got worse, so I again began the use of it and used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."
